BACKGROUND

The Office of the Fairness Commissioner (OFC) works with regulatory bodies for Ontario's regulated professions and trades, collectively referred to here as regulated professions, to make sure their registration practices are transparent, objective, impartial and fair.

The OFC requires the regulated professions to submit reports about their registration practices and their compliance with the Fair Access to Regulated Professions and Compulsory Trades Act, 2006 (FARPACTA) or the Health Professions Procedural Code (the Code) set out in Schedule 2 of the Regulated Health Professions Act, 1991.¹

These guidelines apply to each regulated profession named in Schedule 1 of FARPACTA and the Code.

The Fairness Commissioner is required to specify the form, content and timing of Fair Registration Practices Reports.² In carrying out this function, the OFC has developed these guidelines to assist regulated professions in meeting their reporting obligation. The OFC expects each regulated profession to follow these guidelines in providing a complete report on its registration practices.

The reporting guidelines are based on the registration provisions of FARPACTA and the Code. Relevant definitions of terms used in this document can be found in the legislation. The OFC will use the information provided in the reports to inform its assessment of the registration practices of each regulatory body on the basis of its obligations under FARPACTA and the Code.³

The OFC will seek additional information from a regulated profession if information contained in its Fair Registration Practices Report is unclear or incomplete.

FORM OF FAIR REGISTRATION PRACTICES REPORTS

1. The report does not contain personal information, information subject to legal privilege or information that must be kept confidential by law or court order.
2. The report avoids unexplained acronyms and jargon.
3. Your organization makes the report available to the public.⁴
4. Where you have used calculations, the report provides the formulas or methodology.
5. The report indicates which data have been estimated, and any underlying assumptions.

TIMING OF FAIR REGISTRATION PRACTICES REPORTS

Frequency of Reporting

The OFC requires that each regulated profession prepare and submit a Fair Registration Practices Report annually.

Reporting Period

Each report is to reflect registration practices that were in effect from January 1 to December 31 of the preceding year.

Deadlines

The deadline for submission is March 1 of each year.

Your organization must make each Fair Registration Practices Report publicly available, with the same content that was submitted to the OFC, within 30 days after you submit it to the OFC.

CONTENT OF FAIR REGISTRATION PRACTICES REPORTS

These guidelines specify the information that is included in the Fair Registration Practices Report.⁷ Your report must include a response for each question. If there are no improvements/changes to report for a given question, you do not need to provide a substantive response. The reporting website provides an option for you to indicate that there are no improvements/changes to report. You must select this option as appropriate in order to complete your report.

Ensure that your responses include complete information about any improvements/changes to your registration practices during the reporting period.

If your organization regulates more than one profession, you will have the opportunity to report on registration practices and data for each profession.
